City Funding Officer

IH Central

(Limited 12 months contract with the option for prolongation)

BACKGROUND

EIT Urban Mobility is the largest European innovation community to accelerate transition to clean and sustainable urban mobility. Innovation is key to transform mobility and make cities more liveable. We work with Mobility players from industry, research, academia, and the public sector from across Europe, seeding innovation and entrepreneurship for a green and competitive Europe.

Our focus areas

After successful start-up, EIT UM entered an exciting new phase of growing its impact and business. Today EIT UM is largely funded by grants of the EIT, a body of the European Union. To become financially independent, EIT UM is diversifying its business models, seeking to attract finance from various European and national public funding, as well as private sponsors, co-investors and donors. Operations span over different legal entities and financial vehicles.

ABOUT THE JOB:

We are looking to appoint a City Funding Officer, based in Munich who reports to the Director of Innovation Hub Central for daily reporting and to the Head of City Partnership and AIG Manager for operational functions.

Expanding upon existing success in European-wide funding actions, the City Funding Officers will be tasked with identifying local, national, and regional funding opportunities related to Urban Mobility (Net Zero Cities, CCAM, Last-mile Logistics, Digital Technologies and Smart Cities, etc). The City Funding Officers will lead the targeting of identified funding opportunities to support EIT Urban Mobility partners (cities, industry, academia, and SMEs) in their defined geographic region (<https://www.eiturbanmobility.eu/our-hubs/>).

Main tasks and responsibilities include:

- Mapping and identifying cities, funders and funding programs with a focus on Germany, Austria and Italy.
- Develop strong relationships with cities, national and regional funding bodies.
- Analyzing funding cycles, work programs, and tracking upcoming calls linked to mobility.
- Master the legal, financial, monitoring, and operational complexity of each priority funding body.
- Develop concept notes, timelines, and project proposal outlines to initiative partner engagement.
- Design and facilitate workshops for partners to respond to funding opportunities.
- Become a trusted advisor to our Leading Cities in their geography.
- Support in the development of new cities partners in the region
- Continuous mapping of cities' opportunities in the region
- Matchmake between existing and new EIT Urban Mobility partners
- Complete financial planning and costing for bid proposals.
- Write and coordinate bid proposals to close.
- Participate in and engage with Innovation Hub Central and EIT activities and events.

The position is based in Innovation Hub Central, in the Munich Urban Colab (Germany) where startups, corporate innovators, scientists and creatives from the most diverse sectors and disciplines are working together under one roof on intelligent technologies and services for smart city solutions.

Permanent and full-time position, with possibility to homework up to 2 days a week.
No relocation expenses are assigned.

THE PERSON WE ARE LOOKING FOR:

We put a high value on individual qualities and personal attributes and are looking for passionate professionals. We are looking for a “can do” attitude, with experience in bid development and interest in mobility, technology, and innovation. The successful candidate should have proven, and successful direct bid development and coordination experience gained in consultancy, academia or research organisation. Experience in working with state funders, local government and or/the public sector is required. The position will be accountable to engage partners in a timely manner, creating a high-quality bid pipeline and successfully negotiating new partnerships.

As the ideal candidate you should have:

- 3 years of experience in bid development.
- Well-developed communication and social skills, including public speaking.
- Ability to work across multiple funding bodies.
- Experience working with the public sector (cities, local governments, funding agencies, etc.);
- Results-oriented, comfortable working with tight deadlines;
- Capacity to understand new solutions, ideas, and master product details/value;
- Ease in communicating complex ideas in an easy-to-understand manner.

Experience in the below would be considered as a plus:

- Proven capacity to execute on defined strategy and deliver to timelines.
- Understanding of the German and / or Austrian and/or Italian funding landscape.
- Track record of winning bids.
- Credentials in designing and delivering innovation projects.

EDUCATION

REQUIRED EDUCATION LEVEL: master's degree in a field relevant to Urban planning, Project management, Strategic planning, public policies, EU studies or any other master's degree with commensurate seniority in bid development and writing.

REQUIRED LANGUAGES: Excellent written and spoken English (C1) AND German. Italian or Turkish would be a plus.

APPLICATION PROCESSGeneral Conditions:

By the closing date of this call candidates must:
